Breakfast in the hotel. Morning at your leisure. In early afternoon a driver will wait for you to drive you to a winery for a wine tasting*. When a vineyard combines centuries of tradition with innovative technology, they have made a statement worth acknowledging. Vigne Surrau, a relatively new venture in Sardinia, is one of those rare breeds of producers that claims the past while living in the present. Yes there is innovation, experimentation and state-of-the-art technology. The history lies in the choice of grapes used for production, Vermentino, Carignano, Muriellu and Cannonau. Those grapes, historically, are age specific to the region. Vigne Surrau is located near the sea, a few kilometres from Costa Smeralda, in the region of Gallura, an area that is not tourist infested, like much of Sardinia. Crushed granite stone dominates the vineyards soils and help influence the unique expression of the wines. Return to Porto Rotondo. Dinner and overnight.
