Day 02: Kruja – Berat (Total driving distance: 129 km)

After breakfast, we will begin the guided tour of Kruja, known for being the heart of the anti-Ottoman resistance during the 15th century. This is a mountainous city dominated by a 15th-century citadel. Kruja is famous for its traditional Ottoman bazaar and its Ethnographic Museum, which will be part of our visit.

KRUJA: After surviving for thousands of years, Kruja was nearly lost in the early 20th century but has managed to thrive again in the last 50 years. It is a popular tourist destination with a spectacular view of the mountains. The main attractions of the city are its fortress with the citadel and the traditional bazaar.

Next, we will continue our journey toward Berat, stopping on the way at the Belsh area, often referred to as the “Albanian Tuscany,” known for its scenic vineyards and the numerous lakes that surround the region. We will have lunch at a farmhouse located in the village of Roshnik, near Berat: Alpeta Agritourism.

Alpeta Agritourism, located in the picturesque village of Roshnik near Berat, is a family-run farm that offers an authentic Albanian rural experience. Surrounded by vineyards and mountains, the place combines tradition, nature, and local cuisine, and is especially known for its production of handcrafted wine and rakia. Visitors can enjoy homemade meals, wine tastings, and agricultural activities in a peaceful and welcoming environment. Alpeta has become an ideal destination for those looking to connect with rural life and Albanian hospitality.

Berat is a UNESCO World Heritage Site. We will explore its historical neighborhoods: Mangalem, Gorica, and Kalaja. We will visit the Cathedral of the Dormition of Saint Mary, and the Onufri Museum, located inside the cathedral.

BERAT: Also known as “the city of a thousand windows” due to the abundance of large windows in the grand houses of the old town. Thanks to its historical architecture and unique beauty, the city was declared a UNESCO World Heritage Site. Berat’s citadel sits atop the Mangalem hill and has been protected by fortifications since the 4th century BC. The city also features several beautiful 18th-century mosques and many Byzantine and post-Byzantine Orthodox churches.

Day 03: Berat – Apollonia – Llogara NP – Albanian Riviera – Saranda (Total driving distance: 215 km)

After breakfast, we will leave Berat to visit Apollonia, one of the most important archaeological sites in the country, where we will explore the ruins, the Church of the Virgin Mary, and the Apollonia

Archaeological Museum.

APOLLONIA: Founded in the early 7th century BC by Greek colonists from the cities of Corinth and Corcyra (Corfu). Apollonia became a commercial center for both Greeks and Illyrians, thriving during both the Hellenistic and Roman periods. The monuments discovered within the archaeological park include: a city fortifying wall, the Prytaneion, the Bouleuterion, and two Stoas (large and small).

We will continue our journey towards Saranda, making several stops along the way to enjoy the pristine, deserted beaches of the Albanian Ionian coast and take photos at various viewpoints.

The next stop will be at the Llogara National Park, where we will enjoy an impressive view of the pine park. During the stop, we will also have a traditional lunch at a restaurant within the National Park. The local traditional menu will conclude with a tasting of famous sheep's yogurt, local honey from a thousand flowers, and native walnuts from Llogara. (Lunch included).

LLOGARA NATIONAL PARK: Located between the Adriatic and Ionian seas, it starts at 470 meters above sea level and rises to the highest peak of 2,018 meters. Near the peak of the Llogara Gorge, visitors can admire the park's famous pine trees, whose unique shape is a result of the air currents in the area. From the Llogara Gorge, one can see the Ionian coast, just three kilometers away, the rocky part of Mount Vetetima, and much of the Riviera.

During the journey, we will be accompanied by the Albanian Riviera.

The ALBANIAN IONIAN RIVIERA is considered by some as "Europe's last secret." It is the stretch of coastline between Saranda and Vlora, offering some of the most spectacular beach views of the Ionian. The road winds between tall mountains on one side and virgin beaches with turquoise waters on the other. Besides the natural beauty of the area, what makes it particularly attractive to tourists are the excellent beach bars and the delicious seafood.

Arrival in Saranda.

SARANDA: Located in a beautiful bay between the mountains and the Ionian Sea, Saranda's name comes from a Paleochristian monastery dedicated to Agioi Saranta (the Forty Saints). In ancient times, Saranda was known as Onchesmus. Situated across from the Greek island of Corfu, Saranda is one of the most attractive tourist cities, often chosen by newlyweds to spend their honeymoon.

BUTRINT: This UNESCO National Park is composed of a well-preserved archaeological site set within unspoiled nature, where laurel trees dominate the landscape. It connects to the Ionian Sea through a natural canal. The area around Lake Butrint is home to various animal species, including endangered ones. Excavations and studies have shown that during the 7th and 6th centuries BC, Butrint was a pre-urban center. The city was proclaimed a colony and was used by the Roman aristocracy as a vacation destination.

We will then, visit the coastal village of Ksamil to spend the afternoon at the famous and sought-after beaches of Ksamil.

GJIROKASTER: A UNESCO World Heritage site, the city is known as "the city of stone" and features hundreds of Ottoman-style tower houses with stone roofs, wooden balconies, and white stone walls. As soon as we arrive in Voskopoja, we will begin our tour of the 18th-century churches: the Church of the Dormition of the Virgin, St. Nicholas, St. Anastasius, the Church of the Archangels Michael and Gabriel, and others. In addition to the churches, the village was known for its Academy, Library, and the entrepreneurial spirit of its people. Unfortunately, the town was plundered and burned in the late 17th century, leading to the abandonment of the village by its inhabitants. Today, due to tourism, it has once again begun to thrive.

After visiting the churches and enjoying a short walk, we will have the chance to experience one of the most special cuisines in the country: that of the Korca region. It is famous for its "lakror" and local ingredients cooked in a traditional "sac" (a method of cooking in a metal container). This ancient technique is still used for dishes such as pies, meats, and more. These are essential dishes of the country. In the afternoon, we will bid farewell to Korca and head towards the beautiful city of Pogradec, located by the famous Lake Ohrid, which is a UNESCO Natural Heritage site.

POGRADEEC: This city is one of the most important in southern Albania, situated on the shore of Lake Ohrid, the most famous lake in the Balkans (285 meters deep). Known for its tranquility, great gastronomy, and the famous Ohrid trout, Pogradec was also the summer residence of the Albanian Stalinist dictator Enver Hoxha. The town is located on the shores of Lake Ohrid, a UNESCO World Heritage site, and is one of the earliest settlements in the area. On the hill above the town, archaeological excavations have uncovered a Paleochristian basilica with extraordinary mosaics dating from the 4th-5th centuries AD. The ruins of the early Christian church are still visible.

In the main square of the city, Skanderbeg Square, and along the main avenue, you will find most of landmarks of Tirana. The oldest discovery in Tirana is a Roman house that was transformed into a church and features decorative floor mosaics dating from the 3rd century AD. Modern Tirana was founded as an Ottoman city in 1614 by Sulejman Bargjini, a local governor from Mullet. It became the country's capital in 1920 and now has a population of nearly one million.
