-Visit Dharma Drum Mountain, the largest Buddhist community in Northern Taiwan. The scholarly teachings of its late leader Dharma Master Sheng Yen (1930-2009) was first known for his academic interpretation of Zen Buddhism. The complex is formally a Buddhist education center, with a library, meditation halls, conference rooms and accommodations for monastics and visiting scholars, as well as dining halls, landscape gardens and collections of religious artworks and artifacts.

-The Village of Chiufen was once centers of gold mining in Taiwan. The gold is gone, but these quaint old villages, built of closely-packed houses clinging to steep mountainsides, continue to offer enchanting scenery and fascinating glimpse into the lifestyles of the past.

-The rock landscape of Yeh-liou Geopark is one of the most famous wonders in Taiwan. The influences caused by wave attack, rock weathering and earth movement, all contribute to such a rare and stunning geological formation, including rocks that resemble tofu and ginger, the unique candle rocks and mushroom rocks, and the most famous Queen's Head.
